Duroll's private office is used for military headparters. There were about 200 soldier wound the building.

Nobody seemed to know where Kellogg or Longstreet was. All were walt-Ing anxiously for some demonstration on the part of the troops. It is generally admitted that Grant bas an element on his hands. Kellogg showed himself such an imbreile and coward in desert ing and surrendering the State House that no one believes thant will reinstate his Government.

The new officials at the State-House are occupied principally in overhanding Kellogg's captured correspondence. Interesting developments are promised and it is alleged that exposures will be made which are certain of placing Butler, Morton, and Carpenter In a very incomfortable position bufore the pub

> WASHINGTON, Sppl. 15.—Contrary to report and expectation President Grant did not go to Long Brauch hast night, but remained here at his post. His baggage was checked and at the depat to take the 9 o'clock train, his carriage to convey him to the train was at the door, when, at the last moment, yielding to the urgent personal solicitations of Secretaries Fish and Bristow and Pastronater-General Jowel he concluded to defer his tilp. A message was sent and minutes for his arrival departed without him. At 10 o'clock this morning the President called together his Cabbuct, and the present condition of affairs in Louislanu was seciously desussed. The situation to-day presented a new phase from that of yesterday, prior to the issuing of the proclamation to the insurgents requiring them to dispurse, from the fact that Kellogy had voluntarily abdicated and sought teling in the Caston-House and the protection of United States troops. Whatever may be the feeling of the Administration with refreches to the unfortunate situation in off, it seems that he made his demand-for profection, and almost contempora-neous therewith was the first to seek the cover of the natifixry, leaving his bendpunriers and the archives of the State at the mercy of any person who might invade the sume and take posses-your. HAY TEA FOR CALVES. 'A young farmer," correspondent the Boston Journal, thinks he has made a discovery in using hay ten for raising a calf. He says of the calf: "It grows finely, is fat enough, and seems to like its hay ten, and to be just as well satistied with a full meal of that as it would be if it had taken its fill right from the cow. I never tried hay ten before, and nover saw it made or fed out, It is not so much trouble to make hay tea as to make porridge, and the cost is nothing. I cut my hay, the finest and best I have, about two inches long, and pour boiling water over it. Let it stand until cooled to about the heat of milk from the cow, then take the hay out and give it to the cow, and the tea to the calf. One of my neighbors says I am making the hay worth more for the cow, and so getting a profit besides raising the calf. At any rate she cuts it greedily. The longer the hay steeps be-

Hay ten has long been used to raise culves on, and, being the nutriment of the hay in solution, must contain just the food needed by the calf. Hay, cut at the right time, is an excellent food to make milk, and as the calf's natural food is milk, the nutritious food of the hay dissolved in water must be the next thing to milk. But the idea that buy loses nothing by steeping it in water, i about like supposing that the ground of the best Japan tea are stronger than the tea itself. The wood fibre is readered more digestive by the cooking,

WORTH KNOWING .- Dr. Grass, lly ing near Granby, who is clearing up a new farm, has been troubled with a large number of big oak stumps. He had heard that saltpetre was good for stumps. Accordingly, a couple o months ago he sprinkled on the top of each stump about a tablespoonful of pulverized saltpetre. A few days ago he set are to these stamps, and says they commenced and continued to burn until everystump was totally consumed. roots and all, so that he was able to plow without the least difficulty over the very ground formerly occupied by these large stumps. He says some of the stumps burned four or ave days, Farmers, try the doctor's remedy; he says it will not fail. The doctor also says that if your cabbago plants are troubled with little black bugs you can save every one of them by sprinkling then lightly with cayenne pepper. Use an ordinary table pepper box. This is a dead shot.— Uranby (Ma.) Mines.

The Cambria Freeman says :- Five years ago Mr. Jacob Kline, of Jenner two. Somesset county, found a single grain of white wheat in his red Mediterranean, from which, after five sowings of it and its products, he obtained one hundred bushels of a fine new va-riety of white wheat,

HOW TO KEEP TOMATOES. A correspondent of the Rural New Yorker, in Pennsylvania, gives the folowing as a most excellent method of

"I have this day (December 9.) taken to the store of a friend a basket of ripe tomatoes, fresh and nice as they were last fall when pulled from the vine, They were admired by a good many persons. A lady present asked if they had the same flavor that they had on the vine. I handed her one, and tasting it, she replied, 'O, how delicious and fresh! and such a rare treat. They taste just as they do in summer when fresh from the vine.' Now these tomatoes sold at 15 cents per pound in a few hours. The next thing after tasting the tomatoes, was, 'How did you keep them?' I did it in this way: In the fall before the frost bart them, I pulled the larger tod put them in my cold green, house; and when there was danger of freezing, I removed them into another greenhouse in which fire is kept, and laid them with the stem down on damp sand. Here they ripen slowly, and the moisture from the sand keeps them fresh. In pulling them I leave a stem on them about two inches long; this is put into the sand when I place them on it. I used the Trophy tomato. I have tried other kinds, but they rot badly. The Trophy tomato being a late variety and very solid, I think it is the best for keeping. This is the second senson of my trying to keep tonatoes till Christmas and New Year."

GREEN TOWATO PICKER-In preparation for pickling, wash and slice a peck of green tomatoes and six large onions; put them in a stone jar in layers, with salt between, using a tencup full of salt; put a weight on them and let them remain twelve hours; drain off all the brine; cook them in clear water; when tender, skim them out and drain again. To pickle them, put into five quarts of vinegar one onner and a half of black pepper; one ounce of whole cloves; one ounce of allspace one onuce cinnamon; one onuce white mustard (English; ) one conce of turmeric powder, and a box of mustaid; heat the mixture; put in the tomatoes and boil twenty minutes; whon cooling stir in balf a teacupful of grated horse radish. To be scaled up in wide-mouth-

SPICEL TOMATOES,-To a pint of vinegar put four pounds of sugar ; one owner of cianamon; one-half onace of cloves three-fourths of an ounce of allspice heat and then add seven pounds of rips tomatoes, pared and slived. Boil five minutes; skim out the tomatoes and let the liquid boil twenty minutes or more; put back the tomatoes and let it boil up again. Bottle up or seal in small jars. It is excellent with cold ments.

CANNANO TOMATOES, - In preparation for canning, tomatoes must be peeled, sliced and heated, boiling but; if tin caus are used solder them as quickly as possible after they are filled; when they have stood from five to ten minu tes puncture the top of the can with an awl; let the opening remain a few moments for the escape of air, then solder it up smoothly and turn the cans upside
